VOLUME XLII.

"A Trip to Japan."

Mrs. Don C. Seitz gave a talk on Japan before the several ladies' literary clubs of Norway at Grange hall, Saturday evening. She brought Japan, the people, and her trip there so vividly before the hearers that it seemed to be at their doors instead of nearly half way across the continent. Mr. and Mrs. Seitz were sent there in the interests of the New York World, on which paper Mr. Seitz has held an important position many years. They were received by the Japanese people with marked respect.

Mrs. Fredland Howe, Jr., read a paper on Old Japan and Mrs. C. P. Barnes a paper on New Japan. Japanese songs were sung by Marjorie Barker, in costume, and by the ladies quartet, Mrs. Frank Kimball, Mrs. E. F. Bradbury, Mrs. Eva Willis and Mrs. George I. Burnham. A reading was given by Mrs. H. L. Bartlett.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, and the tables were handsomely decorated and each guest received a floral souvenir.

Mrs. Frank A. Danforth, in behalf of the ladies of the Federation of Clubs, presented Mrs. Seitz with a large picture of the sun or home of Mr. and Mrs. Seitz, (the Solomon I. Millett farm) that they bought last spring, and have been remodeling and making into a Colonial house of rare taste and beauty.

While the ladies were enjoying themselves at the hall Dr. Bradbury invited a few of Mr. Seitz's gentlemen friends to meet him at the doctor's residence and listen to an informal talk on Mr. Seitz's recent Japanese trip. They all agreed it was a most interesting lecture for they were all comfortably seated, including the speaker, and could ask questions and enjoy a social evening.

The foundation at the Engine House Hall is being rebuilt.

Mrs. Horace Pike spent Sunday at John Richardson's, in Auburn.

F. D. Knightly hauled doves for Will Chadbourne, the first of the week.

Several people have seen a deer on the Klain interval during the past week.

G. C. Bruce of Albany, N. Y., is spending several weeks with his son, Rev. R. J. Bruce and family.

Geo. Hobbs and Albert Clark are spending a few days in New York this week, on business.

Norway Grange.

Amasa B. Robbins.

Amasa Bartlett Robbins died at the hospital in Portland, Thursday, Oct. 20th. Mr. Robbins had not been well for several months. He went to the Lewiston hospital the week before to see about submitting to an operation for gall stones, but felt so much better after he got there he concluded he would wait awhile and returned to his home in Norway. He had another bad attack and went to Portland.

Mr. Robbins was born in Greenwood, April 7, 1842, the son of Oliver and Anne (Thurlock) Robbins. He attended school in Greenwood. He was engaged for a time in the mill and lumber business in Summer. He lived in Greenwood, Summer and Woodstock, then went West for a short time and on his return settled in Norway, where he has been engaged in carriage making and repair work. His shop is on Pleasant street.

He married Elizabeth M. Rowe in 1866 and their children are Mrs. Helen Canwell, Hartford; H. Arthur Robbins, Turner; Mrs. Lena Irish, Hartford, and Mrs. Susie A. Durgin, Rockland, Mass.

In politics he was first a republican, then a greenback and then a democrat. He served through the Civil War with the 1-10-29 Regiments. He leaves a good war record and was a good citizen, a kind and thoughtful man in his family and with his friends. He was a faithful workman in his business.

The funeral was held from his pleasant home on Water street, Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, Rev. Merrill C. Ward being the attending clergyman. Many floral offerings attested to friendly regard.

Mrs. A. E. Briggs.

Mrs. Gertrude E. Briggs, wife of A. E. Briggs of Oakland Heights, Cliftondale, Mass., died Friday, October 7th, aged 55 years. For nearly a year Mrs. Briggs had been confined to the house, and since last July her life has been despaired of, although local physicians and prominent specialists have done all that medical skill could suggest.

Mrs. Briggs was born in Norway. Besides her husband and two children, a half sister, Julia Hathaway of Cliftondale, and two brothers, Charles L. and George Hathaway of Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Briggs went to Cliftondale over three years ago, and have built up a good grocery business. They have erected several handsome houses and have transformed a rocky hill into the attractive Oakland Heights.

Mrs. Briggs' remains were brought to Norway for interment.

Harry T. Whitbridge and family moved from Danforth street into their house on Paris street, which they recently bought of the W. O. Brown estate.

Dr. F. E. Drake and wife leave Friday for Portsmouth, N. H., where they will spend a two weeks vacation. This is Dr. Drake's first vacation since 1901.

George Cummings is exhibiting a curiosity in the form of an earthen statue of a man's head. Scratches were made in the composition over the eyes and on the top and back of the head. Water was placed inside the figure and grass seed planted on the rough surface. The figure has a fine crop of green, real grass hair growing, now a little over an inch long.

Congregational Conference.

The semi-annual meeting of the Oxford Congregational Conference was held at the South Paris, Congregational church, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 25 and 26.

The program opened at 10.30 when devotional services were held, conducted by H. L. Horne of Norway, at 10.45 a short business meeting was held, followed by very interesting remarks regarding the Boston meetings by Rev. J. G. Field of Mexico, Mrs. Johnson of Portland and Rev. W. C. Curtis.

At 12.00 dinner was served in the vestry.

The afternoon session opened at 1.45 and the devotional service was conducted by Rev. S. C. Eaton, followed by the Woman's Home, which was conducted by the Woman's Missionary Union, Rev. R. J. Bruce of Norway spoke on "How may we improve the County Conference and have some very good suggestions regarding the improvement, spiritually and naturally. The examining of Paul Ruchini of Rumford, who was to be ordained into the ministry was then held.

The evening services began at 8.00 o'clock in charge of Rev. J. G. Fisher. The minutes of the Council were read by the scribe, W. H. Eastman of East Summer, which included the reading of the names of the delegates, an account of the meeting, and the recommendation of Paul Ruchini to the ministry.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. C. Curtis in the absence of Rev. W. W. Pirazzone of New York, who was ill and unable to attend. Mr. Curtis took for his theme the gospel of Christ and spoke of the apostle Paul when he said, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ." He pictured Rome in the "first century and showed by contrast how the people of Rome at that time were worshipping the various gods and goddesses and other deities, while the gospel of Christ was the history of a Galilean peasant and his marvelous character and works. Paul knew the gospel of Christ could reveal the truth and wisdom of God and was a gospel of love toward all men. He had experienced it in his own life and knew in full measure what it meant when he said he was not ashamed of the gospel of Christ.

By forsaking sin and cleaving to that which is good, and by faith in the repentance of sin we receive the first gift of our salvation and through faith is the only way of accepting Christ as a personal Savior.

The ordinary prayer was offered by Rev. J. S. Fisher. Rev. A. T. McWhorter extended the right hand of fellowship. He welcomed him into the duties of the Christian ministry of the County and the state, and spoke of the great opportunity for Mr. Ruchini, who was to be a missionary among his fellowmen at Rumford, to work among his fellow countrymen. He also spoke of the rather strange coincidence that he should extend the right hand of fellowship, as he was born in Ireland, and Mr. Ruchini in Italy, and how they had crossed the seas and to night stand under the stars and stripes devoted to the same endeavor.

The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. Charles Harbutt, who said that he should make the charge simple as he knew well the duties he was entering upon. He spoke of Italy its people and the once greatness of the Catholic church. His teaching should be to make the Christ real to his people by the sure and unerring teaching of the things pertaining to Christ, to be true to him, lead men to Him with prayerfulness and deepest consecration.

The evening session closed by prayer by Rev. P. Ruchini in Italian, followed by the benediction in English.

Wednesday morning the services began at 9 o'clock by a praise and prayer service conducted by Rev. A. E. Davis. Cecil C. Swett spoke on the work of the Knights of King Arthur. Rev. J. G. Fisher spoke on "How to make the Sunday Evening Meeting Attractive for young people," and said that by teaching the use of the Scriptures and having the young people take a part in the service would tend to make them more attractive. There also was another part and that was that the pastor should make a greater preparation for these services.

Rev. A. T. McWhorter spoke on "How to make the Sunday evening meeting a means of reaching those who do not regularly attend church." He said that the principal means is by being cordial to all strangers and the constant attendance on the part of the members. The pastor also has his part to do and should find out the names of the strangers and extend a hearty welcome.

E. N. Swett spoke on "The Laymen's part in advancing the kingdom of God from the viewpoint of a S. S. superintendent." He defined laymen as the male members and Christian workers associated with the church. He spoke of those who were qualified to teach and would not as falling short of doing their duty, and in many cases those who are less competent are obliged to take classes. Many people put other things in before the church but the church should come next to the home. All cannot teach but it is important to attend. Ministers have to spend too much time with the members, instead of being able to attend to others. The kingdom of God is advancing and we should all help in the advancement and do our part.

Upon the absence of E. C. Bowler of Bethel, Deacon Nelson of Mexico spoke on "The Laymen's part in advancing the kingdom of God from a business man's standpoint." He said that the men in the church should attend to the financial affairs concerning the church and that the pastor should not be obliged to attend to this part of the church work. The church should come next to the home and its work should not be neglected.

Mrs. Annie Barnes spoke on "The Laymen's part in the advancing of the kingdom of God from a woman's point of view." The principal factors are influence and opportunity. "A man cannot speak but he judge himself," therefore it should be taken into consideration what the influence of our speech or act will have on others. Opportunity is the second factor. The first duty outside of the home is the church. The people are more to blame for failure in church work than the ministers. The minister after studying the people picks out the ones best adapted for a certain work, often they refuse and the work is a failure, whereas if each in his turn would do his part the plans would succeed and the work of the church be done. The greatest opportunity is in personal work. We all mingle with people and if we are unselfish and charitable in this mingling we shall advance the kingdom of God.

At twelve o'clock dinner was served by the circles.

The last session of the conference opened at 1.45 with a prayer and praise service in charge of Rev. J. G. Fisher. The conference sermon was delivered by Rev. R. J. Bruce of Norway. His theme was "The Development of the Christian." God has a definite purpose in the life of every Christian, first to free man from sin, second to make men partakers of his promises and third to unite every individual through Jesus Christ into a compact body. God works through the church by means of the individual workers and through them completes the work of the church. God's will is that we shall be filled with the spirit of Himself, and His will concerning one's self is that we shall not put confidence in self. His will concerning ourselves is that we shall do good unto all men and perform the will of God through the Divine power working in us.

The Communion service was conducted by Rev. A. T. McWhorter.

The convention adjourned until June, 1911, which will meet at Mexico.

Mrs. Hattie Witham of Oxford is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Bolster.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White of Danville Junction spent Sunday at J. B. Richardson's.

The ladies of the M. E. church will hold their sale in the vestry of the Baptist church, Thursday, Nov. 3d, afternoon and evening, and everybody is welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Adoniram Spofford are spending a few days with Mrs. Spofford's sons at Rumford and Woodstock before returning to their home in Hopdale, Mass.

Mrs. H. W. Starbird and Mrs. George C. Fernald entertained the Ladies' Whist club at Mrs. Starbird's, Thursday afternoon, which was the first meeting of the club.

Elders and Mrs. F. B. Grant will hold meetings and lecture, Saturday evenings at seven o'clock, at the home of Mrs. M. E. Andrews on Alpine street. All cordially invited.

George A. Cutting went to Hartford, Monday, where he is employed by the Columbia Motor Car Co. His family will remain here for the present but will go to Hartford later.

William J. Wheeler has purchased E. I. Spofford's house on Church street, which is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ware. He intends to improve the building the coming spring.

F. W. Walker and Charles Arey of Bridgton, are spending two weeks' vacation in Boston. They will visit Arthur Swan at Roxbury, and are visiting the different baker shops in town.

Harold T. Thayer is spending a week at his home, Mr. Thayer who has been employed as reporter on The Union at Springfield, Mass., has a similar position on The Times at Brockton, Mass.

At the meeting of the Sons of Veterans which was held Tuesday evening, it was voted to disband as the attendance is small and not enough to warrant the holding of the meetings during the season.

EAST OTISFIELD.

The I. S. S.

The Golden Rule Branch of I. S. S. held a sale and social dance at Otisfield Grove Garage hall, Friday night. About one hundred and fifty were present, and a good sum was realized from the sale of fancy articles and aprons, home made candies, fudge, cornballs, and the fish pond where old and young fished out rare souvenirs.

Charles Brett of Welchville purchased a fire filled sofa pillow, made by the oldest member of the Golden Rule Branch, Mrs. E. S. Greenleaf, 88 years old.

Ice cream and cake were sold during the evening. The things it was a very pleasant and profitable evening.

The object of this society is charitable, helping all who are in need; both in town and out of town. This society is constantly sending cheer and sunshine to shut-ins and those who meet with losses and are in need of kind words.

This society is not governed by sect or creed, but is a friend to all. Some time in life everyone comes to the place where the true principles of the I. S. S. will not be a foreign affair. Let us all become better acquainted with the great work which I. S. S. is doing and has done, in our own dear state of Maine.

WEST BUCKFIELD.

Building Burned.

J. V. Pearson's farm buildings with five horses, seven cows, three calves, one heifer, a lot of hens, furniture, dishes, and so on were entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday forenoon between the hours of nine and ten o'clock.

The neighbors reached there quickly but the barn was so filled with smoke when Mr. Pearson first discovered the fire that it was impossible to remove the horses, one pair of which was owned by Mr. Pearson and one by his son Everett.

Everyone turned their attention to saving things from the house. Practically nothing was saved from the second story. All the dishes saved were those on the breakfast table. Everything saved from the house was moved to the barn house owned by A. S. Hall, where the family are living at present.

Everyone is contributing from their own stores put in for winter, canned goods, clothing, bedding etc. Where nearly everything is burned there is plenty of room for contributions of every kind. Let everyone help this deserving family in their trouble.

G. L. Whitman and Lella, who have been stopping at Chester Beckler's for the summer, are now with Mr. Whitman's daughter, Mrs. Georgia Hendrickson.

Chester Beckler is repairing the house which he recently purchased, and they may appear at a Probate Court to be granted of Portland will move into the rent which will be vacated by Mr. Beckler.

BETHEL.

Paid the Debt.

Last Friday evening at the Universalist church, there was a fine supper and a collection in honor of the paying off the balance of an old debt which was incurred fifteen years ago when the Chapel was built. Payments had been made from time to time till the balance with interest was reduced to about $5.00, and the Ladies' circle paid that balance.

This leaves the church free from debt all bills paid and the Pastor's salary a week in advance leaving a balance in the treasury.

The supper was attended by a large representation of the parish, and after the supper Hon. C. C. Park, president of the Universalist church, gave the dedicatory of the Chapel, the work done to pay off the debt. He spoke of the excellent condition of the parish at the present time and congratulated the people and the Ladies' circle on the work done.

The pastor followed with a few remarks and suggestions, then Roger P. Stize the National secretary of the National Y. P. C. U. was present and added a word of rejoicing with the people on their success and then gave an interesting sketch of the work of the young people of the Universalist church, and are having throughout the United States.

Remarks from others followed and the entertainment closed, and the people went home rejoicing.

Mr. O. M. Warren was called to Northfield, Mass., last week to the funeral of his brother.

A good delegation from the Universalist parish is attending the Oxford Association at Mechanic Falls, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

A cold wave and cold rain, Saturday and Sunday morning visited us, and some snow was seen on the distant mountains. The rain was just enough to lay the dust, and the roads are in good condition.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK.

HARRISON.

Mrs. Clementine Stuart Edgerly.

Mrs. Clementine Stuart Edgerly passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Thomas, Wednesday evening, Oct. 18, at the age of 90 years, 11 months.

She had been in bed for a long time and her friends knew that she could not hope to keep her with them but a short time, yet the news of her sudden death came to them as a shock. She passed the day as usual on the couch and reclining chair, resting at her usual time. About 12 o'clock her daughter went to her bedside and found she had entered the "rest which remaineth to the children of God," in the quiet, peaceful manner she had long prayed she might.

Early in life she became a Christian, uniting with the Congregational church at Lewiston. Later she with her husband, Samuel Edgerly, became charter members of the Congregational church at North Waterford, where they resided for several years. Afterwards they became Adventists in faith, a belief they found very comforting in their long illness.

She was a kind, unselfish mother, ever ready to sacrifice her own comfort, if needed be, for the good of her children, and always a cheerful giver to the needy, often remarking, "It is indeed more blessed to give than to receive."

She is survived by two aged sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Libby of South Paris and Mrs. Lucretia Dunn of West Poland; five children, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, Mrs. Edgerly, Mrs. Fred Edgerly, J. C. Edgerly, H. R. Edgerly, all living near; two step-daughters, Mrs. Emma Stevens of Holden, Mass., Anna Edgerly, who lives with her brother Fred at West Paris; 24 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. She had seen seven generations, distinctly remembering her great-grandparents.

Rev. Mr. Bruce spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family, Saturday, and she was laid to rest under a mound of beautiful flowers she so dearly loved in life. The loving floral gifts from the family were:

Flowers in lavender and white—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edgerly.

Sheaf of flowers—Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas.

Ornament—Asters and sweet peas—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Edgerly.

Sprinkle carnations and ferns—Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Edgerly.

Spray white carnations and ferns—Ethel Thompson.

Spray of white carnations and ferns—Howard and Ronel Wright.

White roses and smilax—Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Lamb and daughter.

White chrysanthemums—Kathryn Wright.

White—Mr. and Mrs. John Witham.

White—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lord.

Cut flowers—Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Chase.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Witham.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lord.

—Mrs. Mattie Gilkie.

—Unknown givers.

Mrs. Emma Spaulding is ill with nervous prostration.

Postmaster Tarbox has made a business trip to Boston.

HASTINGS.

A Large Lumber Business.

Hastings & Son are planning to do a very large lumber business this winter. They have a large number of crews at work in the woods and are planning to haul 1,500 cords of birch to their mill here. They have a crew of men at pairing the big wood alcohol mill the past week. This mill, with its thousands of dollars worth of machinery, has stood idle for a number of years but there is some talk that they will start it again in the spring.

F. H. Grover went to Bethel and Albany, Monday.

Will and Elbridge Bird and John Kimball of Albany were in the place last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bickford of Auburn are camping out just above the village and are hunting and trapping.

D. R. Hastings of Auburn has been here for a few days, visiting his son and looking after his lumber business.

Two of the big teams have been hunting in grain the past week from the railroad station at Gilead, three miles away.

Hastings & Son have had their cottages for their men newly painted and repaired this fall, and with running spring water and electric lights in the houses they make cozy homes.

There is a party of hunters, camping near the village and the ladies of the party, in their bright scarlet caps, attract considerable attention as they pass by on their hunting expeditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook and six children from Poland, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grover and children and J. W. Adams from Albany are among the late arrivals. Mr. Cook is employed in the woods and Grover & Adams will work in the mill.

EAST FRYEBURG.

WEST PARIS.

Francis Eaton Shaw.

Francis Eaton Shaw, a well known and respected citizen of Paris, after a long illness, died of heart failure at his home at Snow's Falls, Wednesday, Oct. 19. Mr. Shaw was born in Greenwood over 79 years ago, July 11, 1831, and his parents were Francis Shaw and Olive Elizabeth Whittle of Greenwood and they lived there on a farm for a few years when he was listed with the Norway company in the First Maine Regiment and was one of the "minute men," in which service he remained throughout the Civil war. Although never called into actual service he faithfully served his time at Augusta in waiting, for which he has received his just reward the salary of those who went to the front.

Later, he and his family moved to Concord, N. H., from there to Cambridge, Mass., and finally settled on a farm at Snow's Falls, where his last 38 years have been spent.

Mrs. Shaw died five years ago last June.

Three sons came into this home: Frank, the eldest, who resides in Cambridge, Mass.; Estes, who died when about four years old and Robert E., who with his wife and little two years old daughter, Viola, the only grandchild, live on the home place where he has been tenderly cared for during his declining years.

Reminiscences of 40 Years Ago.
No. 8.
In and around West Sumner and vicinity one frequently hears quaint, old, odd names of places that naturally suggest some reason for their adoption.
Here are some of the names, "Pin Hook, Cy Gott, Trap Corner, Whale's Back, Sucker Harbor, Black Strap, Gun-dry Hollow, Greenwood City," mountains "Molly Ocker and Streaked mountain, Shadigee."
The writer having no positive knowledge suggests the following as a solution pertaining to their origin. In doing this he has drawn largely on imagination. To begin with "Pin Hook" probably famous for fish hooks made with pins; "Cy Gott," Cyrus Gott, a venerable old gentleman, one of the first settlers of Milton Plantation; "Trap Corner, late home of my good friend Uncle Jerry, where some shrewd Yankee had a "Wall Street Corner" on the sale of traps.
"Sucker Harbor," safe retreat for suckers; "Whale's Back," the writer has ridden across this monster's spinal column without a perceptible tremor of his body. (Note, his total length about one mile long, an enigma solved by the rule of three, or more.) "Black Strap," this was something in a pitcher used by farmers while haying in that vicinity.
"Hungry Hollow," another enigma or misnomer, for the hospitality of every citizen and home where I have ever been cannot be excelled.
"Greenwood City," its mayor, aidersmen and citizens are to be congratulated for the quiet, orderly manner in which the city is run. No finance commissions, million dollar loans to look after, no defaulting officials, water-works, except fish ponds to anglers, who make good hands from the banks and are sometimes caught in the act.
"Molly Ocker," mountain was the name of an Indian woman. Molly Chunkeumuk is no doubt also an Indian name of one of the Rangeley lakes.
It was during one winter the embargo on Pleasant pond had just expired and I was on hand for fishing through the ice, and I saw about twenty hooks set and I saw the last one was in there was sport indeed. No "Uncle Jerry," God bless him, was there with "pins" to solace, but the fish were, and such beauties from one to five pounds were seen in a pool of water out on top of the ice.
To look at them, fifty or more, e'er the time came to go home would have made an old fisherman laugh outright.
One of these would have made every guest seated at the dinner table smile instead of a three pound sucker borne aloft by a waiter on a high platter around the table, as I have often seen in Switzerland just to tempt one's appetite.
That night in West Sumner there was a terrific snowstorm. Snow lay high drifts and much anxiety was felt and expressed concerning a poor family who near Dixfield North near "Old Speckle." Soon two strong men with willing hearts were procured, then after a call at the store close by, with sleds and shovels a start was made. A fearful journey but never two heavy men struggled through drifts of snow until a habitation, if it might be called one, was reached.
Beckoning to the men who accompanied me to remain outside while I investigated, I struggled to what was once a door, pushing the boards aside and rapping softly, then louder, but no answer came. Soon I heard a cry of little children and after a little effort I managed to get in. The scene that met my gaze will never be effaced. Three little children half-frightened clinging to each other; a broken stove around which the children had been trying to warm themselves; a few rags in the corner which they called a bed; everything spoke of poverty and want. I stood spellbound by the sight of the children.
I said, "Where is papa? Where is mamma?"
The little boy replied, "Papa gone to catch fish." The little girl said, "Mamma gone to get some to eat."
I said, "What, nothing to eat?"
"No, no, mamma baked little cakes."
Two little hands uplifted were extended to me, and a little voice cried,
"Cake, cake, we want some cake."
It was not long before the two sturdy men had placed inside that rude home a barrel of flour, sugar, tea and sundry other things for their comfort, and I wondering eyes and smiling faces of the little ones as they gazed at the goodies would have made an angel weep.
Had it not been for those two strong, willing men who bravely struggled with me to reach those little ones there might have been another scene more pitiful and sad than this.
Hoping I have not wearied my readers
by this time, I remain, very sincerely,

Hallowe'en.
Awake, ye ghosts and goblins! Your festival approaches.
October's blue skies will soon give place to the drear storm clouds of November, but first must come the day of autumn carnival, the festival day of Hallowe'en.
Hallowe'en, the day loved of youths and maidens from Dan to Beersheba, from pole to pole; 'tis then that witches ride abroad, and eerie creatures mingle in the affairs of men. 'Tis then the fates permit a peep into the future, so prepare, ye fateful maidens, to test what fate may have in store.
The instruments you will need to use are simple, apples and chestnuts, mirrors and lighted candles provide excellent tests.
Suppose, while mirth is reigning abroad, while little brother is holding high carnival out-doors, with his Jack o'lantern, his inevitable bean-blower, and the ghostly tick-tack, we invite a party of friends to help us celebrate within.
Never at any season of the year is it possible to make the dining room more attractive for luncheon than at Hallowe'en. The autumnal tones are so cheery—russet and gold and crimson of the maple leaves, the flaming scarlet berries of the mountain ash, the warm color of the young ever-greens that they give a cozy homelike atmosphere to the room at once. The centre-pieces may be of autumn fruits; big red apples, polished till they shine like a mirror, great clusters of purple and luscious juicy pears. A hollowed-out pumpkin will make a unique receptacle for these. Then the tiny Jack o'lanterns in all sorts of fantastic shapes make pretty favors, and there are hosts of dainty place cards in appropriate design which delight the heart of the Hallowe'en hostess. It is a very pretty fashion, too, to let the grinning faces of the Jack o'lanterns furnish the only light in the room.
Now for our ghost stories. And what ghosts, ghostly tales they are! We can almost hear the rustle of invisible diaperies; and we cast awesome glances over our shoulders. We all experience a feeling of relief when the lights are on once more, and we do not look for ghostly shapes in the corners of the room.

The witching hour of midnight draws apace. Ere long the elves' carnival will be a thing of the past. We must try our tests before it is too late.
Let us peel these apples, taking care to let the peeling form a slender ribbon.
Now twirl it thrice in your fingers, and throw it backward over your shoulder.
That is the test. Now let us see what initial it forms, A, J, Z, No, an S—yes, that is the initial of your sweetheart's name.
Now let us try this faithfulness with apple seeds. Select two, and name them for two of your attendant swains. Put one on your right eyelid, one on your left. It comes to pass, if you are true, I warrant, and it is a trifle hard not to wink too rapidly and knock them off, but we must be careful; this is an infallible test. That one has fallen off, For whom was it named? Ah! he will prove an inconstant lover, but the one which remains—his fidelity is unquestioned.

You are not quite convinced? Oh, skeptical maid! But here is another experiment that will set your mind at rest. Name these two chestnuts. Now put them in the coals to roast. One popped toward you; one away from you.
The one that popped toward you is the more ardent cavalier.
Now comes the crucial test of all.
What maiden will be courageous enough to venture down the cellar stairs in the darkness? A heroine is found.
She must take a lighted candle in one hand, a mirror in the other. Now we will lead her to the head of the stairs.
These are her directions: walk down the stairs slowly backward, looking intently into the mirror. Before you have reached the foot of the flight, you will see the face of your future husband, peeping over your shoulder, reflected in the mirror. Then there is a moment's silence, broken by a wild clatter of feet up the stairway. Why, what is the matter? Has she seen a ghost? She refuses to tell, of course, but we have all noticed who was absent from the room for a few moments and has now taken his place again in the charmed circle.
And so the fun goes on. We are eager to try another and yet another experiment. But lo! the strokes of the clock break in upon our fun. One! two!
three! four! five! six! seven! eight!
nine! ten! eleven! twelve chimes out its musical tones. Why not one of us has an idea that it was so late. What a wild fable! These are the hours for a wrap!
What a chorus of joyous goodnights.
The last youth and maiden have gone their way through the now deserted streets. The last light is snuffed out, and the old house is in darkness.
Hallowe'en, the jolliest, merriest, most madcap day—barring Christmas—of the whole three hundred and sixty-five days of the year. Three hundred and sixty-five days must we wait for such another revel. (Sunday Times.)

SWEDEN.
Sallie Knight died Oct. 9th, after a illness of nearly two months. She was the youngest of the family of nine children and the last one to cross over the river. She was born about eighty-three years ago and lived in the same house until her death.
Aunt Sallie as nearly everyone called her was a good neighbor and very kind to all whom she came in contact with.
She was severely left her home for more than a day since her birth. She has been a faithful home maker for her brothers during their lives. She has been tenderly cared for in her last sickness by her niece, Lizzie Knight, who has been faithful waiting and watching over her until she died.
Funeral services were held at her home, Tuesday, Oct. 11. Rev. Mr. Reeves of Lewell officiating.

Mrs. Bertha Emerson has visited Mrs.
Sallie Hilton at Bridgton.

Mrs. Mary Smith has returned home after helping her daughter, Mrs. Wm.
Flint, a few weeks.

Mrs. Sidney Gray has returned home from Bridgton Ridge, where she has been caring for Mrs. Barry Brigham, who has a little daughter.

Euford S. Plummer was drawn jury-man from this town. His name has been in the jury box twenty-seven years and this is the first time it has been drawn out.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Flint have been visited by Mrs. Flint's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Bachelder; also her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lawson W.
Rowe of North Sebago.

Fred Davis and family visited at W.
H. Flint's on the political note. "Let 'em sizzle! You just keep cool! If you talk politics with your neighbor, be reasonable. Loud talk and yelling never convinced anybody."

Soon the hunters will be out from town, tramping over your fields and pastures, killing your feathered friends
and disturbing if not injuring your stock.
It is well to be neighborly, but the birds
served you faithfully through the year
by destroying millions of bugs and insects, and it is your duty to protect them now.

Keeping Cabbages. Select a dry place the patch, pile up the cabbages and stand closely together, heads down.
Cover with soil from five to ten inches, thick at first so they will not heat, covering only enough to prevent freezing as the season advances. The burying beds may be made from four to six feet wide.

If potatoes are inclined to rot, don't be in a hurry to dig yours. Leave them in the ground as long as you can before digging. There will be far less waste.
I have seen some lots of potatoes all go to mush after they were dug; whereas, if they had been left in the earth till cold weather came on, most of them might have been saved. [Farm Journal.]

17 Year Locusts
To warn farmers and orchardists against the resurrection of the seventeen-year locust, or periodical cicada that will occur in certain areas of this country next spring, a call for preserving the wild birds that destroy this pest is today being issued by the headquarters of the National association of Audubon Societies.

English sparrows, robins, woodpeckers, orioles, scarlet tanagers, cuckoos, goldfinches, and nuthatches have rendered the greatest service in destroying these periodical cicadas on their previous raids of the country.

Eating the soft bodies of the locust pest or their wings and heads as well, catbirds, flickers, towhees, gnat catchers, martins, peewees, thrushes, vireos, chickadees, and flycatchers are among their other destroyers. Only two species of all the birds examined at Washington have been found not to feed upon these destructive insects.

Make This Test
How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased.
Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent of the people need a hair tonic.

"Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunk, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy."

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall's Hair Tonic. We promise that it will not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair at the base of the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall's Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Russell Store, P. P. Stone, Main Street, Norway.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. ANNA ANDERSON, Box 19, Black Duck, Minn.

Consider This Advice.
No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.
This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Gumption On The Farm.
Gather and burn the rubbish.
One forward look is worth forty backward glances.

How some folks do enjoy rolling up their sleeves, and then—bussing the job that somebody else does.

Gather pumpkins and squashes before a hard frost, and store away in a dry place (not in a damp cellar).
Bring in the corn horns; if you are through with it. Even a wooden horse will show the effects if stabled out in the field a few months.

Do not leave the old cabbage stumps sticking up out of the ground. They look slovenly and breed fungous pests.
Pull them up and burn them.

When I led by the frost, mow off the asparagus tops and burn them. Then give the bed—and the rhubarb plants, too—a thick winter overcoat of stable manure.

The cultivating season is over and all tools should be cleaned up and housed.
One winter's exposure to the weather will do tools more harm than several years' use.

A good growth of rye plowed in next spring will give you more and better potatoes. But you'll have to get it in right off or you won't have much growth to plow under.

Just because an ear of corn is large, does not necessarily make it the best for seed. See that the rows are straight from tip to butt, and the kernels are all well formed and plump.

Build the line fence strong enough to keep your own and your neighbors' stock out of the right side, but do not have it so high that it will prevent you from being neighborly.

We never like to put potatoes in the cellar when they are at all wet. In bad, cathly weather it is better to store them in an out-house till they are thoroughly dried off. They will keep much better, and this is the first time it has been
drawn out.

Hurrying wheat to market has a tendency to keep prices down. The wise farmer who holds on to his grain will be likely to realize several cents a bushel more than the hurry-up brethren are likely to obtain.

About this time of the year things get pretty hot in the political pot. "Let 'em sizzle! You just keep cool! If you talk politics with your neighbor, be reasonable. Loud talk and yelling never
convinced anybody."

Soon the hunters will be out from
town, tramping over your fields and
pastures, killing your feathered friends
and disturbing if not injuring your stock.
It is well to be neighborly, but the birds
served you faithfully through the year
by destroying millions of bugs and insects, and it is your duty to protect

you do not have to work close to the stove, which is usually far from the window. You can work where you wish, and be warm. You can work on dull winter days in the full light near the window, without being chilled to the bone.

The Perfection Oil Heater quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap, put in like a cork in a bottle, is attached by a chain. This heater has a cool handle and a damper top.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

Clever Women
Always Keep their Hair Fascinating and Free from Dandruff.

Almost everybody in Norway knows that there is no preparation for the hair that can compare with Parisian Sage.

It cures dandruff, stops falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

It puts radiance and luster into that dull, lifeless hair that many women possess, and does it in a few days.

On March 25, 1910, Lulu D. Fix of Raphine, Va., wrote: "Parisian Sage is a wonderful hair restorer; it stopped my hair from falling out and stopped my scalp from itching; also cured the dandruff."

Parisian Sage is sold by Frank Kimball, prop. of the Noyes Drug Store for 50 cents a large bottle. 41c & 43c

NORTH BRIDGTON.

The newly organized North Bridgton Water Co. has begun the work of trench digging and pipe laying in that village. The start is from Capt. Simpson's place, opposite the Academy campus, which was already supplied from the Academy pipe, and is being extended southward.

The contractor, E. J. Stiles, the Bridgton Center plumber and dealer, makes daily visits to the scene of operations, having for foreman on the grounds, Winfield S. Phinney, Tony Galligan, the Italian fruit dealer, who went to Boston to secure a party of his countrymen to work on the job, was unable to make a satisfactory trade with them, and so the work is being done by a local force.

SOUTH WATERFORD.
Dairy Institute.
One of the series of Dairy Institutes for the present week, under the auspices of the Maine State Dairyman's Association, was held on Tuesday at the hall of Bear Mountain grange from 10 a. m. to 4 o'clock p. m. President W. G. Hutton was present and actively participated in the proceedings, assisted by Prof. G. H. Bell of the University of Maine, C. W. Barber, assistant dairy instructor and Frank H. Morse, corresponding secretary State Dairyman's association for Oxford County.
Prof. Bell opened the discussion, his first topic being Forage crops to grow. Corn, clover, peas and oats, Alfalfa and mixed ground plants, also Timothy as a proper food for horses, while clover was more appropriate for cows. The subject of rotation of crops was treated by the professor in a very plain and interesting manner. In this connection he showed the comparative quantity of nitrogen, phosphate and potash requisite for corn and oats as follows: Corn, 50 bushels, nitrogen, 96; phosphate, 32; potash, 93; Oats, 28 bushels, nitrogen 24; phosphate, 12; potash, 35. The professor enforced the importance of keeping up the physical condition of the soil by plowing in a green crop in the autumn. In spring put on lime. If oats are to be sown, be sure and have good seed, two bushels to the acre. After thorough harrowing sow grass seed.
The first exercise after a sumptuous dinner was an inspection by Prof. Barker and scoring of samples of dairy products exhibited by Mrs. J. Arthur Chadbourne of North Berwick and Mrs. Isaac Pingree of Oldfield. Sample of butter of Mrs. Chadbourne scored, flavor, 87; texture and body, 22; color 15; salt 10; general appearance 5, equal 89.
Butter by Mrs. Pingree: flavor 89; texture and body 23; color, 15; salt, 10; general appearance 5, equal 92.
Cheese by Mrs. J. A. Chadbourne, 2 samples.
Score 1: flavor, 41; texture and body, 29; color 15; finish 10, equal 95.
Score 2: flavor 39; texture and body 28; color 15; finish 10, equal 93.
Corn for silage was the next theme of Prof. Bell's lecture. The first important requisite is—it should yield heavily, the proportion of weight of flint and dent varieties of corn was shown as follows: Flint: ears, 1750 pounds, stalks 1691 pounds.
Dent: ears 3012 pounds, stalks 3253 pounds.
Next, ensilage corn should mature early.
A discussion ensued on packing silage in a green or dry state. A. A. Tucker of Norway instanced a field of yellow corn in shock and asked whether it would be advisable to cut it and put in silo. Prof. Bell said it would not be best to do so as it would not pack closely on, account of being too dry. The subject of applying water in such case was met by a discouraging reply by Prof. Bell.
President Hutton here introduced the subject of Alfalfa culture in Maine and related an interesting case recently observed in Kennebec county which tended to show that Alfalfa could be grown in the state under favorable conditions of management. In reply to his call for individual experience with Alfalfa, F. H. Morse said he had been partially successful; and Benj. Tucker related an unsuccessful experiment. The president advised caution trying to adapt Alfalfa to Maine culture. Prof. Bell advocated planting a mixture of oats, sorghum and clover in proportion of oats 1 1/2 bushels; sorghum 30 pounds; clover 7 pounds to procure a valuable quantity of convenient forage.
By invitation, F. H. Morse gave an interesting description of his experience in improving his pastures with satisfactory results, partly by pasturing with swine which destroy objectionable growths of bracken and other wild plants, and by various other processes for renovating the land, and in some cases, sowing grass seed.
L. E. McIntire related experience of using yellow corn ensilage in summer to some extent with satisfaction; also with trial of top dressing 20 acres of grass with chemical fertilizer the past season. His 75 ton silo is filled with the top corn grown on 6 1/2 acres.
Prof. Barker discussed on clean milk, and advocated clean tie-ups and their surroundings. He told of the bacteria in the feed dust which floats in all stables and naturally floats into milk pails. He related an instance of his own knowledge in which a farmer with a good herd of cows, having a profitable trade in milk, kept his barn in so filthy a condition, and was so careless in handling his milk, that when the fact became known to his customers, his trade fell off entirely as far as selling milk at the former high prices.
It is just the kind of information disseminated by these dairy institutes by men learned in scientific and practical knowledge that is destined to reform the methods and correct the beliefs of former times. Let the Farmers' Institutes continue to flourish!

Andrew Kimball was a visitor and welcome guest at the harvest supper last week. Mr. Kimball is a son of David Kimball, born in the Gamba neighborhood near North Waterford in 1838. He served in Capt. Moses W. Rand's Co. D, 16th Regiment, Maine Infantry in the Civil War. He left Waterford in 1880 to settle in Newton, Mass., with his family. Since 1908 he has lived in the Philippines where he is interested in mining business. He is stopping temporarily at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Atherton at the Flat.

On Thursday evening a citizen's meeting was held at the public schoolroom to act upon the matter of providing a supply of necessary apparatus for the extinguishment of fires liable to occur in the village and immediate neighborhood. An organization was formed under the name of the South Waterford Hook and Ladder Co., the officers elected being: Walter K. Hamlin, president; Frank Noble, secretary and treasurer; C. P. Riggs, William Jenkins and W. W. Watson, executive committee. The subject of the location of the building and the storage of fire apparatus and other matters was discussed at length; but as no conclusion was arrived at the meeting was adjourned to Monday evening Oct. 31.
Louise Brown, Mary Dresser, teaching the present term at East Waterford, and Madge Heald of Lovell, a Bridgton Acad. student, were in attendance at the harvest supper and dance at Grange hall Wednesday evening, which reminds us to say that the supper was a superb illustration of the many sided facilities of the women of our town as caterers to the community. The delicious food provided for the appreciative throng was surrounded by the banquet tables. In the hall after supper a brilliant array of elderly and youthful well dressed dames and men, and children formed a galaxy of beauty surrounding the spacious hall and an atmosphere of merriment pervaded the room enhanced only by the sweet strains of Packard's family orchestra, an indispensable to our local merry makings. The financial results of the supper and dance were very satisfactory amounting to the sum of $27.75.
